Annual Town and School Meetings

The annual meeting of the town and school district was held at the High School on Friday evening. There was small attendance, although it was understood that interest was being shown in former years. Major Chambers occupied the chair. Mr. W. A. Austin, town secretary, read the financial statement which showed the town to be in a healthy financial condition.

In commenting on the financial statement, the mayor stated that the balance on hand was smaller this year than last, the reason being that expenditures had exceeded the estimates. Considerable expense had been incurred on roads, and hospital expenses had been greater than anticipated. It was the desire of the council to keep down the mill-rate to a minimum, which made it necessary to draw on the surplus.

The mayor spoke of the need for better fire-protection, and said it would be necessary to go into the matter before long.

The secretary stated that with regard to debentures, the town was in an excellent condition. The total debentures outstanding, being $40,000, which was now covered by sinking fund, and no tax need be levied for debenture-payment.

The financial report of the school district was read by Mr. M. B. Clemens, and was adopted after very little discussion. The inspection reports when read, however, evoked much discussion, in which Mr. R. A. Gulliver took considerable part.

The meeting closed after adoption of the reports.

Mrs. Wood accompanied the body to Wisconsin, to be buried beside the grandfather and father, which was Mr. Wood's last wish.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his sorrowing wife, his mother, an aged grandmother, two brothers and one sister, besides a large number of friends who will keenly miss him from their midst.

Hospital Dance Great Success

The "hard-times" dance given in aid of the hospital at the Opera House was one of the most successful held this season, and the staff of the hospital were more than pleased with the support received from the public.

We understand that the hall was provided free, members of the Bellamy Orchestra donated their services and the ladies of the town kindly supplied the refreshments.

Much fun was created late in the evening, when all gentlemen, who appeared on the floor not in costume, were hauled before the judge, and fined.

The following were prize-winners: Best costumed couple: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCoy; Best costumed lady: Mrs. Alexander; Best costumed gent: Tom Clarke.

The Weather.

Our unusual winter weather has been a pleasant discussion so far. Lately however, a more serious side of these abnormal conditions from both near and far are being heard:

Early last spring thousands of young trout, supplied by the government hatcheries, were taken and liberated in the numerous streams west of the Calgary Edmonton line. The continuous drought, however, has been evident in particular, Eagle Creek, which was being used as an open fish hatchery, to a point where it is compulsory to remedy the situation, as the fish is fast depleting. In this regard, Mr. Rodd of a provincial fish hatchery, and Dr. Gifford Thompson, went to the creek Wednesday, with the necessary equipment for catching the fish which are transported to the streams which catch to other streams in the province.

Reports from the States indicate that over a large section of the mid-western States there was no snow during 1930 and neither snow or rain so far this winter. In Southern Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and parts of other states, whole towns are suffering from lack of water, winter crops are being ruined, and disease, caused partly by the freakish weather conditions, is spreading rapidly.

But, listen to this by a native son of Alberta:

"Pretty Young Man," sage of

A nomination meeting was held Monday last, and four nominations were handed in for the town council, to fill three vacancies. The three retiring councillors were all nominated. The retiring officers were: Councillors Adshead, Barrett, and S. Tighe.

The following were nominated for the council: C. H. Adshead, Roger Barrett, W. T. Pitt, and S. Tighe.

For the office of mayor, only one name was handed in, that of H. W. Chambers, and he will therefore be elected by acclamation.

For the schoolboard, five were nominated to fill three positions, two of the retiring trustees being nominated. The following were the nominees: J. V. Berscht, H. D. Booker, W. G. Evans, J. E. Liesemer, and A. Troub.

The Sarcee tribe of Indians, recalls the year of 1879, which was a winter similar to what we are experiencing at the present. The signs all look the same; no snow, rivers running, stock grazing in comfort all fail to clear up until the calm is followed by a sudden blizzard of ungodly ferocity, which destroys hundreds of horses and a number of Indians were frozen to death. He says, "load up your cellar, keep on storm windows," because in the wake of this warm weather may come a blizzard which may raise havoc and cause sickness and suffering. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The Fight For Peace

Living as we do, in the fourth decade of the twentieth century of the Christian era, and more than twelve years after the close of the war to end all war, the huge armaments maintained by the more civilized countries of the world continue to be a menace to the future peace of the world, and to satisfy the many professions of "a will to peace" voiced by the leading statesmen of the world.

Great as the inconsistency of all nations appears to be, the inconsistency in fact the blatant hypocrisy, of Soviet Russia stands out over and above all other countries. Here is a republic, a people's government, founded as a result of a revolt against the militaristic government of the former Czars, preaching the doctrines of world brotherhood, yet maintaining and rapidly increasing the most powerful army in the world.

Recently one of the important illustrated papers in Berlin, Germany, presented pictorially the relative strengths of the armies of Europe and the extent of their war equipment. It reveals the fact that the present peace strength of the Russian armies is 1,200,000 men, or almost double that of the next largest European army, that of France with 650,700 men. Italy coming third with about the same number, 633,300.

Russia, with its 1,200,000 able-bodied men withdrawn from productive occupations, is, at the same time, short of man-power to carry out its ambitious five-year programme, and we find Pravda, the official organ of the Communist Party, urging the recruiting of women as one means of solving the Soviet Union's growing labor problem. More than 2,000,000 additional workers are needed in 1931, says this official Government organ, to carry out huge projects of the five-year plan. After pointing out that six million women are now engaged in household duties in the urban cities, it advocates securing the required labor from the countryside, while 1,200,000 men are kept marching through a so-called peace-time army. What a travesty, what a tragedy! What denial of all the principles for which the Communist party throughout the world, with its denunciations of capitalist governments supported by armies, professes to stand!

And how is this huge Russian army equipped? With 600 heavy guns, or 200 more than Great Britain; 2,400 light guns or more than any other country in the world, and 700 more than Great Britain; 23,000 machine guns or 10,000 more than Great Britain; with 250 tanks, compared with 200 in Great Britain; and 1,400 war aeroplanes, or only 147 less than Great Britain, with its world-encompassing empire to patrol and defend.

And whom has Russia to fear? Her nearest and most powerful neighbor, Germany, was dismayed by the Treaty of Versailles, left with an army of only 100,000 men for the maintenance of peace at home, permitted to have no heavy guns, only 288 light guns, less than 2,000 machine guns, no war aeroplanes, no tanks.

And because Communist Russia maintains, and is increasing and strengthening its huge army, and conducts a persistent propaganda in other countries against all forms of established government except their own, and continues such a world revolution, the other nations of Europe feel they too, must remain armed to the teeth. The result is that Europe remains an armed camp.

The Great War taught us that, removed though Canada may be from the Old World nations, we cannot be indifferent to the situation existing. Should the scourge of war again sweep Europe, we, too, would be the sufferers. It cannot be otherwise.

The greatest present guarantee of the maintenance of peace is to be found in the League of Nations. It has prevented more than one outbreak since 1918. The real strength of the League of Nations is to be found in another league, the British Commonwealth of Nations. They are the backbone of the greater world league.

Maintenance of the League of Nations costs Canada approximately a quarter of a million dollars a year. Some people think it costs us too much, but what is a quarter of a million annually for ten million people in comparison to the annual cost to them resulting from the Great War in national debt, pensions to disabled men, soldiers' hospitalization, settlement schemes, and sundry other expenses running into millions of dollars annually?

Every Canadian, therefore, should be an enthusiastic supporter of the League of Nations. So vote of money by Parliament should be more heartily approved than the vote to maintain the League. Not only so, but every Canadian should be a booster for the League, and should exert his or her personal influence to the end that Canada will always be found to be one of the staunchest upholders of the League of Nations at all times.

Col. Thomas Vien, K.C., deputy chief commissioner of the board of railway commissioners for Canada, announced his retirement from the government service. He plans to resume his law practice in Montreal.

Col. Vien was active in politics before he was appointed to the board of railway commissioners five years ago. He represented the constituency of Lethbridge, Quebec, as Liberal member for several years. He was elected first for that riding in 1917, and was re-elected in 1921.

Died From Exposure

Coroner's Jury Brings In Verdict In Connection With Death Of Capt. E. J. Burke

Capt. E. J. A. Burke died from starvation and exposure according to a verdict returned by a coroner's jury at White Horse, Yukon. Burke, with two companions, Emil Kading and Bob Marten, disappeared in October while flying in the Liard River district. They began to march towards civilization, but Burke collapsed and died November 20. His two companions were finally rescued and brought to White Horse by Pilot E. L. Watson, and Joe Walsh, a prospector, on December 10.

To its finding the coroner's jury added a rider recommending that in future "planes in northern British Columbia should be equipped with sufficient food in concentrated form to last for a reasonable period of time, a rifle and 50 rounds of ammunition, and snowshoes for each member of the crew. The jury also recommended that pilots be instructed in woodcraft.

Danger from Colds

Every woman beyond middle age should realize that a majority of the troubles she has to bear have their origin in what are known as common colds. Each year we suffer from colds and various resistances to disease. At this season of the year every woman should see that her blood is toned up to meet the rigors of the climate and that she should be well prepared to stored after any cold, however slight. For this Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a reliable tonic.

Pink Pills are not a mere stimulant giving temporary relief. They build up the body by creating that rich red blood which imparts the glow of health, stimulate the nerves, improve the heart and digestion and make the users capable of withstanding the rigors of our Fall and Winter months. They are sold by mail order by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brooklyn, Ont.

A Sinister Date

October Sixth Has Prominent Place In British Politics

One of the most sinister dates in modern politics is October 6th. Have you ever seen the list? On October 6th, 1881, Gladstone denounced Parliament on October 6th, 1881, Parliament died. On October 6th, 1906, Roosevelt retired from the leadership of the Liberal party, and on October 6th, 1906, he resigned the presidency of the Liberal League. On October 6th, 1931, W. H. Smith died while leading the House of Commons, and on October 6th, 1933, Joseph Chamberlain opened his disastrous tariff reform campaign with his Glasgow speech.

Met the King and Queen

Granny Peters Never Thought She'd Live To See The Day

Granny Peters has lived all her 77 years in the mean streets of London's east end—and her cup runneth over. For she has met the King and Queen, had a cup of tea with the Queen and Princess Mary, shaken hands with Princess Beatrice and now she has shaken hands and had a talk with the Prince of Wales.

The Prince, visiting the settlement, saw a movie of Granny being presented to the Queen. "I'd like to meet her," he said.

"I never thought I'd live to see this day," went Granny.

Every careful and observant mother knows when her child suffers from worms. She also knows that if some remedy be not speedily applied much trouble will be caused by the worms. An excellent preparation for this purpose is Miller's Worm Powders. They drive worms from the system and set up normal working conditions again. So that the child's appetite thereafter is painless and satisfying.

Many Unclaimed Medals

Department Of National Defence Has Large Number Still On Hand

The number of medals in the custody of the records branch of the Department of National Defence is gradually diminishing, but the number on hand is still large. The present addresses of many of the men who served in the Great War and who are entitled to the medals are unknown. Of the 66,194 "1914-15 stars" received for distribution, 1,660 still await claimants. Over 200 were issued in the past year.

In total, 56,615 British war medals were distributed for members of the Canadian expeditionary forces and of these 55,832 are still unclaimed.

The records branch has found it impossible up to the present to locate 32,224 men entitled to the victory medal, out of a total of 346,245 that were earned. Of these medals, 5,861 were disposed of during the twelve months.

And now they're importing ice from the tropics.

It is a product of carbon dioxide gas found in wells of the Tuxpan, Mexico, oil fields, floating to the surface at a pressure of 1,000 pounds to the square inch. The information is contained in a bulletin of the United States navy department's bureau of engineering.

A New York concern has erected a factory which sells the gas into "sub-zero" ice. It has a capacity of 40,000 pounds a day. Vessels with insulated chambers of cork board a foot-thick will bring the ice to the United States.

Proposed Aerial Transport Line Between Great Britain and Canada By Way Of Northern Route

In an article written for the Toronto Globe, Major-General James H. MacLennan, president of the Aviation League of Canada, explains the proposed aerial line of transport between Great Britain and Canada by way of Greenland.

This potential air line, he said, now being surveyed by the Canadian expedition, emphasizes the geographical position in which will make Canada one of the most important units in Imperial and world air transport. Examination of a world globe shows that the shortest route from Great Britain to Eastern Asia is across Northern Canada; the shortest route from the United States to Northern and Western Europe is over the central and eastern part of Canada; and the shortest route from the United States to Asia and to the Far East is over the western part of Canada.

Ordinarily Winnipeg, in the heart of Canada, is a 12-days' journey from London; but in a few years the journey will be done in two and a half days. The 5,000 miles that may have to be covered will be reduced to 3,500, and of these not more than 1,000 will be over water.

There is nothing in this prediction greatly to surprise Western Canada, where flights are regularly made from the banks of the Red River into the Arctic, to Chesterfield or down the Mackenzie River to Alaska, which is eight degrees farther into the Arctic than any point on the proposed air line from Britain to Canada. Before such a route can come into regular use two or three years will have to be spent in preparation; but the first flight from London to Winnipeg will be made by way of Iceland and Greenland by Buffin Land and Hanson Bay, should be flown next August if all goes well with the Watson's expedition.

Three routes have been considered for the Canada-Britain line. One is by the Azores and Bermuda which involves long stretches of flight over water; the route by Cape of Newfoundland to Ireland is short and direct, but involves an even longer water flight and worse climatic conditions.

As surely as this first consideration in every sound commercial enterprise only the northern route remains. This is by way of Orkney, Buffin Land, thence down the west coast of Hudson Bay to Winnipeg.

It is a flight of jumbo, none longer than 150 miles over water and for four-fifths of the way none increasingly out of reach of emergency landing harbors.

Cheviot Sheep For West

Caribou To Be Shipped To University Of Saskatchewan From Quebec Province

A herd of Cheviot sheep has been shipped from Macdonald College to the University of Saskatchewan to use in tests to determine the most satisfactory species that may be used in Western Canada. There were only 100 Cheviots in Quebec due to their real introduction into the province by Macdonald College, Agricultural Faculty of McGill University. The herd in question was selected from various parts of Quebec Province by the college authorities.

Russian Furs Flooding Market

Canadian Furriers' Guild See Memoir To Canadian Industry

The menace of flooding the markets of Canada with Russian furs produced under the Soviet's five year plan and under conditions of virtual slavery, has prompted the Canadian Furriers' Guild to make representations to the Minister of National Revenue Hon. E. E. Ryckman pointing towards measures designed to meet the threat, according to F. D. Lachapelle of Ottawa, president of the guild.

The furriers are asking for the imposition of a tariff on raw furs with certain preferential bases. So far there has not been much direct dumping of Canada with the Soviet articles, although a large volume is entering this country through the United States, Mr. Lachapelle says.

The trade in Canada is being affected also by the actions of certain British furriers who, lending themselves as agents in London for those materials dumped into England, are re-exporting them to this country at a price with which the Canadian trade cannot compete.

"There is a definite design on the part of the Soviets to destroy the fur industry throughout the world," Mr. Burdholder said recently. "It is an established fact that in the London and European markets the Soviets are offering raw furs at a price considerably lower than that of Canadian furs, selling at the same time they are selling manufactured and semi-manufactured articles at a price that is even lower than the raw material. That is an impossible situation. In Russia, the fur trade like all other industries is nationalized, while we in Canada have to provide for the trapper, the collector and all the other agencies necessary to the maintenance of the industry. In Russia the furs are, in the first place, the property of the government; they are secured under conditions of virtual slavery; the collectors simply go through the country gathering them, the initial costs being practically nothing."

The Soviets have established factories which copy European and North American styles, and they are seeking to control not only the market for pelts, but also for manufactured goods. The competition is not fair competition, and it is against that we are protesting."

Freedom Of Speech

Britain Believes the Way To Kill French Ideas Is to Permit Freedom Of Speech

In Hyde Park, London, England, not far from the British palace, in which King George V reigns, is the home of free speech. There in a space set aside and provided with police protection anyone may mount a soapbox and shout to his heart's content about anything that pleases, or, more frequently, displeases him.

As about a score of speakers raved about a score of issues, squads of policemen came charging by. The speakers and the crowds jumping to the conclusion their ancient rights were being assailed started after the police and there was a free-for-all.

After the riot had calmed down, the police explained, very patiently, that, far from desiring to interrupt the speakers, they had been engaged in chasing away hoodlums who threatened to interfere with the speakers.

The Britons realize that the way to kill a foolish idea is to lay it out to the sunshine of public opinion and let it shrivel. —Vancouver Sun.

Poultry Shipment To Hungary

A poultry shipment made the other day from the Canadian Pacific Supply Farm at Strathmore to Hungary, the purchaser being Senator Hugo of Budapest, who is now touring Canada. The shipment consisted of one cockerel and two pullets each of Rhode Island Reds and Barred Rocks.

A latcheship takes on its load supplies, to the extent of about 100 tons, once a month.

Document Well Guarded

Montreal Church Vaults Hold Birth Certificate Of First White Child Born There

A yellowed document deposited in the vaults of Notre Dame church celebrated its 282nd anniversary on November 24 last. It is the birth and baptismal certificate of Barbe LeMunier, first white child to be born in the fort that grew to be Montreal.

Written in Latin, in behalf of one of the Jesuit missionaries whose order was serving the settlement in 1648, the document is so precious from the civil and historical viewpoint that the Quebec government has had a duplicate made.

The original in which the entry is made is in a special one kept by the Jesuits between 1612 and 1657, Mr. Macleod explained. There is a sprinkling of entries before that of the first white child; they cover the births and baptisms of children of converted Indians.

The Jesuits kept their register in Latin until the year when the Superior General came here, founded a parish and started maintenance of a church register in French.

The little girl was born in the fort, which was located below the Riviere St. Pierre, running roughly on a line of the Common street of today and westward toward Pointe Calleyre, new Point St. Charles.

THANKFUL

By Edna Jacques

Naught to be thankful for,
What have you got? did you say?
As you sat by the old garage today?
The crops are poor, the cattle thin,
And the spuds are not what they might have been,
And there isn't much you can sell this year.
You're going to be very hard up,
you fear.
Well, what if you are? why man alive?
If you have to struggle, and skimp, and survive,
And pinch a dollar until it hurts,
For winter woolens, and shoes,
and shirts.
We've all been over the trail before,
And poverty's often knocked at the door.
It won't hurt you a bit,
old man, you knew,
If you have to put the gears in low
When the crops were good,
and the prices high,
say, didn't we soar, and spend,
and fly?

The sky was the limit, we took the air
And blew our crops like a million lire.
But there's always a time
when we have to pay,
And the bills pile up for a rainy day.
And you start to think where you might have stood,
If you'd kept your head
when the crops were good.
But cars cost money, and trips,
oh, say,
The dough has a habit of melting away.
And what crops we had
in our country-side.
When the wheat threshed out
like a golden tide,
And the god of harvest,
with lavish hand,
Scattered his riches across the land.
When the wheat poured out on the grainery floor,
And there wasn't room for a bushel more.
But let's forget what we might have done, done,
There'll be more harvests,
and rain, and sun,
And let's be decent, and
take the blame,
And be sports enough to play the game,
And let's come down to earth,
and stay,
And get a grip on things that pay.

MANURE TO HOLD SNOW MOISTURE

(Experimental Farms Note)

For the past fourteen years the Beaverlodge Substation has made a practice of spreading manure on the snow on areas where it has been desired to hold a blanket for winter protection and to conserve moisture for spring saturation of the land. Frost use has been made in the windbreak and small fruit plantation.

After snowdrifts a foot or more deep have accumulated, a wagon or sleigh is driven along the west edge of the shelter belt, and through the plantation, also, where it is possible to drive. From this vehicle manure is spread over the surface of the snow, sometimes extending only half a rod in from the edge of the windbreak. This helps to accumulate still deeper drifts. Sometimes a second coat of manure is applied just within the west edge of the belt. Thanks in part to this manure but more largely to the effect of the trees and shrubs themselves, banks many feet deep are built up by spring, and sometimes very little frost penetration of the soil takes place.

When the spring thaw commences the snow melts most readily in the spaces between the clumps of manure and the ground beneath thaws out soon. Later the sun gradually thaws the snow lying under the manure and its moisture trickles down, seeping into the thawed soil between the clumps of snow and manure. Occasional saturation by this means is extensive.

In 1921, when fields were moistened scarcely to the furrow sole and the meadows in early July were bleached as grey as they usually are in April, the Station had the finest crop of small fruit and the best showing of ornamental shrubbery it had ever experienced down to that date. During the spring the soil with in the windbreak had been sealed to a lenient depth of one or two feet and probably more, while in July one could still step up moist soil with his boot.

On fields the idea may be applied to considerable advantage on land not to be plowed, cultivated or seeded too early, providing the manure does not contain too many weed seeds. On meadow, or, say, on stubble intended to be spring-plowed for a green-feed crop, manure that has been broadcast on the snow covering the knolls will keep them moist until the hollows are ready to be plowed. If frost is being held too late a little attention to spreading the biggest chunks will expedite thawing.

Busting the world's record in passenger traffic, the Canadian Pacific Railway comes into the limelight this year with the 1252 mile continuous run from Fort William to Montreal via the Canadian Pacific locomotive numbered 1000. A number of locomotives of this class are now being built by the railway equipment plant, Polingburgh, boxes which will be used for急行 engine operations on long runs.

Quebec Sets Pace In Winter Sports

Winter sports in the most historic city of the North American continent — Old Quebec, cradle of New World civilization, with the Canadian Pacific Railway's beautiful station and the Hotel de Ville as headquarters are again proving a drawing card for devotees from all parts of Eastern Canada and the United States.

Strolling in the great park with its toboggan-gang, the Dog-Sled Derby and its spacious skating rink just outside its doors, offers something unique in the way of comfort for sports-lovers. Quebec, too, boasts a fine toboggan and skating rink, open to the public, and the weather is either satisfactory or excellent. Curling, hockey and skating are also staples of the winter's program, most events being rounded off with dancing in the evening.

The season is now well along in the International Snowshoe Convention and the ice-race race across the St. Lawrence on January 31 and February 1; the famous Eastern Dog-Sled Derby on February 19, 20, and 21, followed by the traditional Masquerade Ball in the Hotel Frontenac's gracious ball-room, being among the highlights.

For picturesqueness, Canada's Ancient Capital can hold its own with any city in the world and the surrounding country is equally attractive for excursions. Snow conditions, following the great January storm, are reported excellent and those who have visited the Hotel Frontenac, either in winter or in summer, have found the facilities for visiting, accommodation and cuisine is indeed well-earned.

The pictures show: above, a typical dog-team and, right, the majestic Chateau Frontenac, towering over Quebec's Lower Town; upper center, a toboggan gang, and below, a toboggan out for a romp in the Chateau Frontenac's dog-sleigh. The very youthful skiers shown middle-left are typical of how young Quebec takes its winter sports, which have become famous throughout the Americas, and among visitors to the competition over Canadian Pacific lines from most of the larger cities of Eastern Canada and the United States.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. When added to water, neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms, such as headaches, gas, heartburn, etc., will disappear in five minutes.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The first month's operations in the Alberta government's new department of lands and mines yielded a total revenue of $185,203.

The oil pipeline brought the province of Ontario $16,756,000 for the year ending October 31, last, Ontario department of highways figures show.

The British museum announces discovery by its own and the University of Pennsylvania's expedition tour of temples of the great kings of the third dynasty, dating about 2300 B.C.

Consumer consumption in Germany amounts to 32,800,000 pairs of shoes per year, each inhabitant, while consumption of cigars reaches about 100 per person.

The recent visit of the Canadian trade delegation to the Orient was an immovable stimulant to trade relations and should increase material by the imports and exports of China and Japan, according to G. L. Barr, general agent of the Canadian National Railways at Shanghai.

Among the Christmas gifts received by the Pope was an apparatus for recording dictation by Thomas A. Edison. The prolific experimenter used the machine and sent a message of appreciation to the inventor, whom he also awarded the annual Papal medal in gold.

A trans-Atlantic telephone service is now available between the British Isles and all parts of Canada and Mexico. Heretofore the service extended only to the principal cities of those two countries. With the new equipment, the service will connect England to all parts of North America, including Cuba.

Canadian Methed Approved

Doctors Of Europe Command Idea Of Expert Anesthetics

Canadian scientists are now recognizing the older generation remembrances, not unpleasingly because of the charm the distant past throws over such memories, the noises of the city before the days of rubber-tired vehicles. There were the streetcabs, innocent of all ball bearings rattling noisy, the roar of the threshed wheat on the cobblestone pavements and the steady pounding of the horses' iron-shod feet.

A change has come over the cities. Noises are largely of other varieties. Iron tires have given place to rubber tires, the automobile slips silently along, or should do so, over smooth pavements of asphalt. But new noises have appeared. The newest one from the horns of the motorcars, or from the exhausts of their engines. Mufflers have been provided for the latter, but the horn nuisance persists. This would seem to be largely unnecessary noise. The driver who attempts to move the traffic by the use of his horn has his horn be a nuisance.

An English student of city noise suggests that as there is a limit to the amount of space a man or a vehicle may claim in a city street, so there is a limit to the amount of uproar he is entitled to raise in a city where the inhabitants have certain rights in the environment atmosphere and its disturbance. The radio listener may "tune out" the unnecessary atmospheric annoyances, but one cannot tune out the street noise that annoys and disturbs him.

Policing the unnecessary noise of a city is a far more difficult problem than that of policing its smoke and that has been found difficult enough. A householder may no longer throw his garbage out into the street, or pile it in his yard to distract a neighborhood with offensive odors. So far we have come. But he may still empty a large amount of unnecessary noise upon a neighborhood with his automobile horn or by his futile midnight efforts to start an unwilling car.

This must be one of the problems of the future, that we read of, namely, policing the city's unnecessary noise. And it is a problem of the countryside as well. We cannot distract our neighbors' atmosphere with site smells without getting into trouble. Why have not the neighbors an equal right to their atmosphere undisturbed by hideous and unnecessary noise?

To Solve Race Origin

British Scientist Goes To Africa To Discover People Of Dark Sex

Dr. Arthur Torrence, of London, England, a fellow of the Royal Society of Great Britain, has announced plans for an expedition in February to Africa, in which he said he hoped to determine the origin of the race. "We will try to reach a people of dual sex we believe live near Lake Chad," he said. "My interest first was aroused when I encountered some of these peculiar people in Nigeria in 1924."

I tried at that time to reach Lake Chad but was forced to turn back when advance members of my party were killed by a fierce tribe of desert nomads. I was halted again in 1926 by desert storms.

"It is my belief that the original human being was a person of dual sex. The influence of climate, the necessity of making a living and the need of looking after children, to my point of view, caused the division of the first human beings into two sexes. We hope to prove the long existence of these peoples by unearthing skeletons."

CHAPTER VIII

"Well," said John Maxwell, as he regarded his wife across the tea cups that night at supper. "I've got one good deal chalked up to my credit. I've arranged to keep that boy out of the vampire's clutches for one day anyhow."

Mary smiled, and with a practiced hand dropped three lumps of sugar into her tea.

"How'd you do it, Johnny?"

"I am forced to admit that the credit's not all mine. You remember Simeon Bartlett, don't you?"

"That dear old man who lunched here one day, and who's so devoted to Guy and Nick?"

John nodded, stirring his tea thoughtfully.

"They spent the first week of their honeymoon at his camp, you know. He thinks he owns them. Well, he may be this morning unexpectedly had some business with me, but after lunch he was back again. Walked in and closed the door—napped. His steaming brow and remarked that he wanted to borrow my paying teller."

"For how long?"

"Just over Monday—the holiday. Guy and the babies are going back with him tomorrow for a visit. Glad of it. If ever a girl needed a change of something—"

"I know all about Guy. He's been there this afternoon; but she didn't know that Nick was going with them. I think she was worrying at leaving him."

"Old Simeon saw that. He was going to hire Sam Hillion to take them over; but he recurred to him that if Nick could get off for Friday and Saturday he could drive the car, and at the same time keep out of mischief."

"You don't mean, Johnny, that Mr. Bartlett said anything about the—vampire?"

Mary's eyes opened so wide that her husband laughed.

"I doubt if he ever heard the word, my dear; but he knows the breed. However, Simeon was discreet. He merely hinted that though Nick had made some engagement with his new neighbors, he thought the matter could be arranged. And I said: 'I'll be arranged if I have to go back to the days of my youth and be paying teller myself while he's away!'"

"And what did Mr. Bartlett say to that?"

John smiled in reminiscence.

"He merely grunted—at first. Then he said: 'Nick's a good boy. John Maxwell!'

"Too good to spend a day in company with a pair of innocent blue eyes?" I asked; and he replied: "Ain't I heard tell that old Simeon makes the thief?" They're tires, John Maxwell, when it ain't a bad idea to remove the opportunity. I guess we understand each other, don't we?"

"We do," said I. "The entire bank is at your disposal in such a cause."

"I ain't askin' for the bank," said Simeon. "All I want is your payin' teller!"

Mary laughed, and commented: "He's an old dear; but I wonder how he—well, caught on so quickly. Guy's too loyal to have given him a hint, even if her fears were aroused, which I very much doubt."

"She wouldn't have to hint much, Mary. That old man is as shrewd as a hawk. The merest word would have set him thinking, and he always thinks to some purpose. Anyway, it will do Guy good to have a change. What did you think?"

Mary Maxwell removed a slice of bread from the electric toaster, buttered it temptingly and passed it to her husband before she said: "Guy looked tired, of course, but what young mother isn't tired at times? Whooping cough lasts forever, and both babies had it. She was busy packing, so I produced my thimble and told her to forget I was there except when she found something that needed a stitch. Her mending had piled up fearfully, poor child—but I vanquished everything before I left—even that pinned-up pocket! She said I was as good as a mother!"

"I don't doubt you were, my dear. Did Guy seem happy about going?"

"Almost. She said that Mr. Bartlett was like a breath of cool air; but she was homesick at leaving. Nick! I'm glad he's going. It won't be so hard to say good-bye when she's once away."

"Did she mention the Hallidays?"

"Only casually, but she said she was calling there the other day. She spoke of how beautifully the woman sings. That came up when I mentioned the grand piano. I'm sorry she sings, Johnny. Nick's so fond of music."

"Do you know," said John Maxwell unexpectedly, "I believe we're all making much ado about nothing. Nick was as happy as a colt loose at the idea of going to State Line. I heard him tell Simeon that the Hallidays would probably be relieved that he couldn't go with them! Anyhow, Mary, the boy's not concealed, and that'll protect him to some extent. It hasn't yet occurred to him that Mrs. Halliday might take pleasure in his company."

But if Nick was obvious of the fact that Angela Halliday regarded him as one bright spot in what she was pleased to call "the provincialism of Simeon's uncomfortable Packers" while Uncle Sim, surrounded by bags, boxes, and babies, brought up the rear, Mrs. Halliday started at her husband's step, then turning, remarked languidly: "The party is off!"

"So I perceive."

Halliday moved nearer, and with his usual cynical expression, watched Nick sleep to lock the door, run down the path like a boy, and take the place beside his wife.

"Quite en famille," Halliday remarked.

Angela shrugged. Shrugs, which had once been an affectionate with her, were now as natural as the breath of life.

"What an impossible old man," she said, referring to Uncle Sim.

"But a far from impossible young man," rejoined her husband. "Good-looking, well set-up—and not uninteresting. I advise you."

She wheeled on him angrily.

"I'm sick and tired of your advice! I can't even look out my windows without you spying on me! I heard you steadily who you came in. You thought you'd catch me waving goodbye or something. You're the most jealous—"

He interrupted her with an unpleasant laugh.

"No, my dear, I'm not jealous. I got over that stage of the game years ago. But when I occasionally take enough interest in my wife to warn her, she flies into a tantrum. Some day, if you're not careful, that bohemian-freak you've got in the kitchen will overbear you."

"What if she does? I don't want your warnings."

"But I shall continue to give them." He crossed the room swiftly and closed the door. "We'll have this out right now. I bought this place to keep you out of mischief. He crossed the room swiftly and closed the door. "We'll have this out right now. I bought this place to keep you out of mischief. I supposed there was no one here sufficiently sophisticated to appeal to you; but I might have known better. You'd find them anywhere. If I took you to a desert island some native would turn up and bark in the light of your innocent eyes. It would make no difference to

Melvin Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Krebs spent Sunday at the Vipond home.

Miss Mildred Brown spent the weekend at Ennerdale School with Miss Dorothy Youngs.

Mrs. Leopard, and son Heath, of Edmonton were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Krebs last week.

Miss Sadie Brown is spending a few days with the Misses Landeen. We are glad to have her back in our community.

Mr. Chas. Youngs is attending the school trustees' convention being held in Edmonton this week.

We are glad to see Orvin Swingle back in our community again. He must like "Sunny Alberta" better than "Rainy B.C."

Mr. Geo. Youngs, Weyman O'Brien, and August Krebs are logging in the bush this week, making use of this the California weather.

Miss Ivy, and Mr. Tony Harris of Calgary, and Miss Peterson, of Mizpah, Alberta, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Landeen. It is some time since Ivy and Tony visited their old friends, we were sure pleased to see them.

There was a good attendance at the Club on Saturday night, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Next Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. E. Krebs conduct the social hour. Everybody welcome. Don't forget our dance on February 6th.

If your Radio needs repairing or modernizing, call at the Pioneer Office. E. A. Ahlin is an expert on battery sets.

Mountain View Notes

A whist drive and dance is to be held in Community Hall on Friday, February 6th, in aid of the School Fair.

Mr. Hugh Roberts left on Tuesday for Edmonton, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Rural Trustees' Association.

We hear that the pupils of Mount and Neepawa schools are intensive baseball fans, and are to defend their prowess against each other in the near future, weather permitting.

The residents of the above community, and members of the local U. F. A. extend their heartfelt sympathy to the wife and family of the late Mr. David Irwin, who was a very ardent worker for the U. F. A.

As some travel through the district it is quite evident warm weather prevails, as one notices an occasional housewife taking her afternoon leisure (?) hour on the balcony or doorstep, with windows and doors wide open.

Westcott Notes.

The Westcott W. J. met on Thursday, January 29th, at the home of Mr. E. Krebs with fifteen members and four visitors present. The meeting opened by singing O Canada and the reading of the creed.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It was decided at our last meeting that the president and the secretary, buy goods, such as print, tea, towelling, yarn etc., to be distributed among the members to be made up during the winter months and held over for our annual bazaar, next fall.

It was arranged to hold a social evening on February 20th, to entertain the husbands. Mr. Webster then read a paper on Legislation, followed by a question and answer session.

The members then decided to make a quilt, each member making four blocks. Mrs. Martin Jacobson was given charge of the quilt. We then had a community singing. The meeting was closed with "God save the King" and lunch was served by the hostess.
